Cold Lead: The Life, Times and Death of 1890s Killer Tom Blanck

By Mark Dugan

Hancock House Publishers Ltd ,Canada. Paperback. Book Condition: new. BRAND NEW, Cold Lead: The Life, Times and Death of 1890s Killer Tom Blanck, Mark Dugan, This is a new biography written by Mark Dugan. Thomas Blanck was said to be able to shoot the centre out of a dime at thirty feet. But he was no romanticised, stereotypical gunman of the Old West. He was an extremely dangerous, anti-social, remorseless killer. And, yet, when Blanck was caught and put on trial, he actually gained the idolisation bestowed upon the fictionalised desperadoes of western movies. While the young man had none of the redeeming qualities portrayed by Hollywoods gunslingers, his life story is just as dramatic as any celluloid scenario. This book offers a fascinating account of the life of one of Americas most dangerous gunmen. But more than just a history of the man, the book presents the political, social and economic conditions that were present in the U.S. at that time, and the author puts forward various factors that may have contributed to the events that occurred -- not only Blancks actions, but also the resulting public reaction. Blanck was a petty thief specialising in burglary and robbing saloons,...
